MANY INTOXICANTS.

MR. JOHNSON, WHO TRAVELS, FREELY DISCUSSES THE SUBJECT.

He Occasionally Indulges in Hashesh Himself—How an Opium Habit Was Cured—Etheric as a Substitute For Alcohol Exhilaration.

Johnson "travels for" a New York state wine and brandy producing firm and is a veritable mine of information concerning wines and spirits, alcohol percentages, bouquets, methods and processes of refining and "aging" wines, and besides is a connoisseur of no mean quality in everything drinkable. No one ever saw him drink more of any alcoholic liquor than the half dozen drops he sips before passing a wonderfully near infallible verdict on a sample. Nevertheless Johnson remarked one day to a friend that he took an occasional spree. "Not an alcoholic drink," he explained, "but a hashesh vision."

"Hashesh!" exclaimed the other. "Why, I've always regarded that as more dreadful than spirits."

"Perhaps it is," replied Johnson. "I don't advise any one to use it. But in parts of Europe and in all oriental countries many persons use hashesh as I do. The effect of the drug taken in the larger quantity is to stimulate the imagination. It seems to release the soul from the body's bonds. Fatigue, depression, mental weariness, business cares, all harassments, in fact, are thrown off, and the mind revels in an abnormal and pleasurable superactivity. I never experienced any unpleasant reaction."

"Persons of different temperaments are affected in different ways. I know a man who 'wanted to try' a dose of hashesh with me. He had a most unpleasant time of it. He said that his mental sufferings were indescribable, fear, or rather apprehension, of something mysterious and more grievous than all the ghost stories ever told rolled into one awful horror oppressing him throughout the short time that he was under the spell of the hemp. He never will try it again, for which I am glad, for he might get into the habit of it."

Johnson's business takes him among pharmacists a good deal, and by way of adding to his disclaimer of being a hashesh slave he remarked that every druggist has among his customers one or more opium "fiends" who do not feel the bondage of the drug, although they are enslaved. "I saw a clerk making 100 small powders of morphine one day," said Johnson, "and I asked him why he was putting up so many. The clerk replied that he put up that number every Thursday for a certain lady on renewal of a physician's prescription. The physician had authorized the renewal, and the patient had been taking the morphia for several years in the same quantity. The habit probably grew out of the drug having been prescribed originally for the relief of some obstinate pain. The patient only knew that the powders kept her pain away."

"This same drug clerk also told of the successful cure of a sufferer from the opium habit, another lady who realized her situation and longed to be free. She went to live at her physician's house. She had been drinking so much laudanum a day. The doctor began by allowing her the equivalent in morphine in capsules, taken at the hours at which she had been accustomed to take the liquid. He kept her on a nourishing and stimulating diet and very gradually, without the patient's knowledge, reduced the size of the doses of morphia. "After a time he substituted for one of the morphine capsules daily one of the same appearance, filled with cinchonidia, an alkaloid of Peruvian bark like quinine, but weaker. The patient did not feel the difference. Another cinchonidia capsule was substituted daily after another week or two, and so on, until after some months the habit was taken nothing but cinchonidia one day, with, perhaps, two morphine doses the next. As gradually as before these were eliminated, and the patient was told one day that she had had no morphia for a month. She was surprised and incredulous, but she at last realized that she was cured. I don't know that every one could be freed from the opium habit in that manner."

"The druggist's clerk told me of a fellow employee of his who had a passion for ether. He had found him several times asleep or dozing in a heap of excelsior packing in the cellar, and at last discovered that the young man had been stealing ether. He would saturate a sponge, put it into a pasteboard cone, hold it over his nose, and thus anesthetize himself. You know that the sensation of passing under the influence of ether is very pleasant. It is akin to the exhilaration of alcohol. The patient about to be operated upon is in a state of high spirits, no matter how great his anxieties may be, as soon as the ether has begun to intoxicate him."

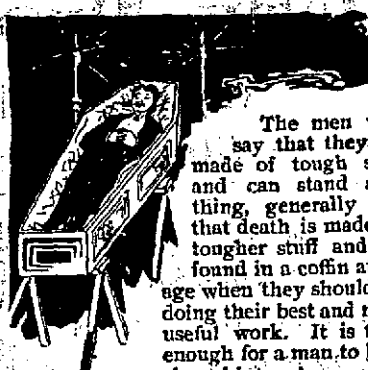

"But in one part of Ireland, where the making of 'potheen' has been smothered by the excise, the simple natives have taken to using ether—a product not expensively purified like that used by surgeons. Only instead of inhaling it they drink it. It induces extreme exhilaration, then sleep, and the drunkard awakes with a headache, a sick stomach and an unpleasant, sweet taste in the mouth, just as the surgeon's patient does. The ether drinking makes a man noisy and quarrelsome and reckless while its exhilarating effect lasts, and is in other ways far worse than whisky. A man may be drunk and sober again in 15 minutes. The local clergy are very bitter against the excitement for driving out the comparatively harmless 'potheen.'—New York Mail and Express.

A Failure.

New Servant—I found this coin upon your desk, sir.

Master—I'm glad you are honest. I put it there purposely to test your honesty.

New Servant—That's what I thought. —Pick Me Up.

The men who say that they are made of tough stuff and can stand anything, generally find that death is made of tougher stuff and are found in a coffin at an age when they should be doing their best and most useful work. It is time enough for a man to brag about his toughness when he has reached a ripe old age. The men who live long lives are the ones who take care of their health in youth and maturity. They realize the truth of the old saying that "a stitch in time saves nine." The ones who don't do this die off of nervous prostration, heart failure and consumption. The best of all health-restorers and health preservers is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It wards off nervous troubles and wasting diseases. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and restores the appetite. It fills the arteries with the pure, rich, red blood of health. It tears down and carries off old, inert and half-dead tissues and replaces them by new. It builds firm, healthy flesh. It makes the muscles strong and elastic and steadies and tones the nerves. It cures debility and weakness of every description. It is the product of the life-time experience and study of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Thousands of men and women have testified to its virtues. Druggists sell it. There is nothing in the world "just as good," although avaricious druggists will sometimes say so for the sake of the greater profit to be made upon the inferior article.

IDENT'S POLICY.

The New York Journal detailed a corps of correspondents to poll Congress upon the most important matters that are likely to come up at the present session. These are financial reform, the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents, Hawaiian annexation, Cuban independence and English arbitration. The poll of both Houses on the retirement of greenbacks stands as follows:

	In favor.	Opposed.
Republicans.....	124	78
Democrats.....	4	122
Populists.....	0	28

Totals.....128.....228

A resolution in favor of recognizing the Cubans as belligerents passed the Senate at the extra session. If the Speaker permits it to be brought before the House, it will probably pass, as the poll of that body is as follows:

	In Favor.	Opposed.
Republicans.....	40	165
Democrats.....	117	8
Populists.....	27	2

Total.....184.....172

A two-thirds majority of the Senate is required to confirm the treaty annexing the Hawaiian islands to the United States. The House has nothing to do with the question and a poll of the Senate on the subject is given as follows:

	In Favor.	Opposed.
Republicans.....	42	80
Democrats.....	4	30
Populists.....	2	4
Silver Reps.....	4	2

Total.....52.....36

The question of acknowledging the independence of Cuba has been discussed to a considerable extent throughout the country, and, while the people generally seem to favor it, the Administration and the House of Representatives are opposed to it. The poll of the House on the subject is given as follows:

	In Favor.	Opposed.
Republicans.....	30	175
Democrats.....	118	8
Populists.....	2	26

Total.....150.....209

The English arbitration treaty was discussed at length in the last Congress, but it is likely to come before the Senate again in a modified form. According to the poll, which is as follows, it will not be ratified:

	In Favor.	Opposed.
Republicans.....	35	9
Democrats.....	13	14
Populists.....	2	2
Silver Reps.....	1	5

Total.....51.....30

If the correspondents make no mistakes and Senators and Representatives adhere to their expressed views on those important questions, there will be no radical currency legislation enacted at this session of Congress and Hawaii, with its Chinese and Japanese coolies, will not be annexed to the United States.

THE DURRANT CASE.

The Supreme Court of California has affirmed the earlier sentence of Durrant by Judge Bahr and reversed the latter on the ground that the mandate from the Supreme Court of the United States had not arrived when sentence was pronounced. The Court ordered that a remittitur be sent to the Superior Court forthwith, which means, the lawyers say, that the last obstacle in the way of executing the murderer of Blanche Lamont has been removed.

A dissenting opinion was filed by Justice Garrouite, holding that the appeal should be dismissed upon the grounds that the time had elapsed. As this does not interfere with the decision of the court it had no effect one way or the other.

As the case now stands Durrant can be taken before the Supreme Court to be sentenced immediately and the execution can occur at any time after ten days from the day Durrant is resented.

It is now believed that Durrant's lawyers have played their last card and that the murderer of two innocent girls will pay the penalty prescribed by law for his crimes on the day fixed for his execution. His case has passed through all the courts, State and Federal, and it appears that nothing more can be done to cheat the executioner, unless the fiend is furnished with the means of taking his own life, and that the authorities will guard against.

ASSESSOR GUTHRIE of Humboldt collected 1016 poll taxes for 1897. The registered vote of Humboldt County for last year was 1027 and it would seem at first glance that nearly every voter in the county had paid his poll tax, but when 135 are deducted for Chinamen and Japanese, 50 for unnaturalized persons, and about 200 for transients, it runs the number of voters, who have paid to about 651. Add to these 50 who are exempt from payment of poll tax by being over 60 years of age and it shows that over 830 of the voters of Humboldt County will be shut out next year under the new law.

The returns from Ormsby and Humboldt already show 500 or more voters short on their poll tax for 1897. If the returns of the Assessors of the remaining counties in the state show a comparative falling off, the total will reach very nearly the 3,000 mark.

From the outlook the total vote of the state at next years election will be largely decreased in comparison to former years and it will be very hard to guess on majorities until the votes are counted.

The Ogden Standard says that within the next thirty days there will be filed in the Second District Court in Ogden some twenty-five or thirty suits against the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line railroads, claiming the damages as the result of the alleged black-listing of striking or other employees.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission has decided to extend for two years the period within which the railroads must comply with the Act of Congress requiring all railroads to be equipped with safety appliances for the protection of the employees and passengers.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Dispatches from Havana say that the insurgents have broken out again, necessitating active work on the part of the Spanish troops.

Mother McKinley was resting comfortably at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, there being no perceptible change in her condition and the physicians thought she would survive the day.

John Francis, General Passenger Agent of the Burlington road, prophesies a great rush to Alaska in the spring and estimates that from 50,000 to 100,000 people will start on the trip and that the traffic on the railroads will be large.

The Brotherhoods of Locomotive Firemen and Railroad Trainmen have by practically a unanimous vote, decided on the federation of the orders. The engineers have not as yet decided.

Heavy fogs yesterday were the direct cause of several collisions of trains in New York State, also of ferry boats and crafts on the East river.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons has intimated that she will release her husband from his promise to not enter the ring any more in order that he may give Corbett another go. She says, however, that unless she does consent there is no prospect whatever of the men meeting.

Senator Gallinger seconded a warning in the Senate against the moderate pension legislation. How pressurized a petition signed by 21,233 natives of Hawaii against annexation, McBride of Oregon asked for the consideration of a resolution for the relief of sufferers in the valley of the Yukon and asked for an appropriation of $250,000.

The consideration of the pending bill occupied the time of the House. The bill carries the enormous amount of $141,121,890. Cannon of Illinois spoke on finance and economy. The Committee on Foreign Affairs held its first meeting yesterday.

How the Screen Was Once Lighted.

It must have often struck people, when reading of the old performances in the last century, how it was that the lighting was contrived. The power of oil lamps was limited enough. Theaters like Drury Lane and Covent Garden were of enormous size. There were no footlights, at least until about the middle of the last century, and they were the humble "floats," dim enough. Yet there was ample light to observe expression and play of features, so necessary in interpreting the fine old comedies of character. Nowadays the stage is one blaze. It is literally bathed and suffused in light. There are no shadows, and yet it might be said the amount of necessary light is no more than there used to be and is not nearly as satisfactory. How was it then?

In the theaters of Garrick and earlier days the stage was really lit by four great chandeliers, which hung directly over the heads of the actors from the arch of the proscenium and just outside the curtain. When the play was over, these were lowered slowly, a signal for the audience to depart. These chandeliers furnished a goodly amount of light on a circular zone immediately below them. The actors' faces and figures were lit in the natural way, as the sun would light them, but the rest of the stage was comparatively dark or gloomy.—Gentleman's Magazine.

His Exculpation.

A minister met a little boy Sunday afternoon with a string of fish, none of which was more than two inches in length.

"Don't you know," said the minister, "that you committed a sin in catching those little fish on the Sabbath day?"

"Tain't my fault," replied the boy, "cause the big ones wouldn't bite."—Columbus (O.) State Journal.

One of the First.

"Oh, I wanted to ask you about that society novel you were reading! Did he marry her after all?"

"No; he was one of the first to marry her."—Detroit Journal.

A handsome box of stationery, a gold pen and holder, a fancy ink stand, scrap book or autograph album is a useful and handsome holiday present for a young lady. Mrs. Lake has a large stock to select from and her prices are very reasonable.

The Gold Creek News suggests L. O. Henderson, the present efficient Warden of the State Prison, as a candidate for Governor. Lou would make a dignified and handsome Governor. From the number of prospective gubernatorial candidates, there will be plenty of good timber to select from and as there is only one Governor to be elected several aspirants will probably get left.

I have just received a complete and well selected stock of gents' furnishing goods, underwear, overshirts, socks, suspenders, handkerchiefs, ties, etc., which I guarantee to be equal if not better than any in the town, which I will sell at prices that defy competition. My stock of domestic and imported cigars and tobaccos is complete in every particular, comprising such brands as the Nerve, Carl Dunder and Royal in the 5-cent goods, and El Belmont, Sanchez, Haya, De Vallens, Internations, Hotel Brunswick, General Arthur and many others in the imported goods. Call and be satisfied. Free employment office in connection with the store. A. NELSON.

A Feast of Good Things.

The JOURNAL will print a series of receipts every Friday morning. Each one that will be given is a well tried receipt, used and illustrated in every day life, as well as in the social cheer of many a hospitable board. If every lady will preserve the receipts as they appear, she will in time have an excellent cook book.

Stock for Soup—A rich stock can be made from a shank or shin of beef. Cut in several pieces, skim, add salt, skim again and let boil gently until the liquor is reduced one-half; strain, cool and skim, and if boiled properly and long enough an excellent jelly will result. Too violent boiling makes the stock cloudy and dark. Stock should never be allowed to stand and cool in the pot in which it is cooked. Pour into an earthen dish, let stand to cool, uncovered, when all fat should be removed and saved to clarify for drippings. The stock is then ready for use as wanted for soups. Never boil vegetables with stock as they will cause it to become sour.

Chicken and Veal Salad—One chicken or same amount of veal chopped, equal amount of celery chopped, whites of five eggs chopped; salt and pepper.

Dressing—Yolks of five eggs boiled hard, mixed with two table spoons of butter, one teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon sugar, one-half cup of vinegar; salt and pepper.

Boiled Meat—Get the round of beef and have your butcher make deep incisions in it about two inches apart. Make a dressing of bread crumbs, onion, butter, pepper and salt. Fill up the incisions with this mixture and tie up firmly. Simmer from four to six hours, with only a pint of water in the pot at one time, which must be well covered. When tender thicken the gravy and serve.

Codfish Balls—One-half boiled codfish chopped fine, butter, little onion, pepper. Mix into balls to fry.

Pie crust—One tea cup of flour, one heaping tablespoon of lard, three table-spoons of cold water and a pinch of salt.

Banana Float—One box gelatine dissolved in a tea cup of water, three pints of milk, two and a half tea cups of sugar. Boil for ten minutes and when cold but not stiff, stir into it six bananas, which have been previously broken up or sliced with a silver fork. Mould and serve with whipped cream.

A MILLION MEN WILL GO.

The Estimated Number of Men Who Will Leave for Klondike.

A reliable gentleman who recently arrived at San Francisco from the East, via Seattle, has given out the following sensational statement with regard to the gold diggings in the Klondike and the world-wide interest that is being taken in them.

He claimed to have reliable information that England alone would furnish 100,000 persons who would start in the spring to tempt fortune in the frozen depths of the Klondike. In Seattle he estimated that to-day there are 20,000 strangers from other places wintering who are waiting until the spring to go up to the diggings. Some of them are erecting tents in which to live until that time.

There is much more excitement in the Eastern States than there is in California regarding the vast fields of gold in Alaska, and it is believed by mining men that there is more gold in Alaska than in any other country in the world. The gold fields are believed to extend over thousands of square miles.

The gentleman reported, also, that the excitement in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities is intense, and that the migration of people from those cities to the Pacific Coast in the spring will be more remarkable in point of numbers than it was in the days of '49 and '50.

Has Filed His Charges.

Henry Wood, the late Asylum book-keeper has filed charges against the Asylum Management so it is reported. If the report be true, the existing differences can be presented to the Board of Commissioners for the care of the Indigent Insane in such a manner, that the same can be properly considered and the public informed accordingly.

If the charges cover the business affairs of the Asylum, the treatment of patients, cost per capita and such matters as the general public may be directly interested in, they should, as a matter of course, be carefully investigated. On the other hand if they are of a personal character or the outcome of a feeling between employer and employee, the public can have no interest in them other than the morbid satisfaction of seeing a grand rumpus and the Board of Commissioners should ignore them. What the taxpayers want is efficient and economical management. As far as the social circles in which a man moves or his private acts are concerned, they are strictly his own business as long as they do not interfere with his official duties.

Pay Your Taxes.

An idea prevails among a few delinquents that they can pay their taxes anytime next week without risk of the penalty. This is a mistake. D. B. Boyd is required by law to close his books and deliver them to the Auditor next Monday and he must necessarily have opportunity to complete his work. When the books are closed, the penalty is imposed and the Auditor cannot use any discretion in the matter, but must advertise the property. There were 133 laggards at the close of business last evening and to-morrow will be too late to pay up, so get in to-day and save the penalty.

Installation of Officers of Adah Chapter O. E. S.

The following officers of Adah Chapter, No. 122, O. E. S., of Nevada, were duly installed last evening by Past Matron Mary D. Summerfield:

Libbie Booth, W. M.; Stewart Logan, W. P.; Margaret Bird, A. M.; Grace V. Ward, Secy.; Anna Sample, Treas.; Minnie D. Noyes, Cond.; Clara Jamison, A. Cond.; Elizabeth Webster, Chaplain; Polly Martin, Marshal; Stella Webster, Adah; Nellie Winters, Ruth; Helen King, Esther; Nellie Hymers, Martha; Emi Fish, Electa; Julia Parry, Warder; L. L. Crockett, Sentinel; Alice Layton, Organist.

A large number of Masons, their wives and daughters were present. The impressive ceremonies of the installation were interesting and the members of the chapter duly complimented. The evening was pleasantly passed, music, general conversation and short addresses being features. At the conclusion of the impromptu program a sumptuous banquet served by the chapter was a most appropriate ending of a pleasurable and social evening.

Donnels & Steinmetz.

Read Donnels & Steinmetz's new ad. in this issue and call at their store in the New Investment Building on Second street and see their fine goods for the holidays. Nothing is nicer for a Christmas present than a nice piece of furniture and nothing more acceptable in a home. They have fine wicker chairs, handsome tables, beautiful rugs and an endless variety of combination desk and book-cases, chiffoniers, lace curtains, portieres, etc. Patronize your home merchant and see and know what you are getting in price and quality and don't take the risk of having some inferior or second-hand article foisted upon you by an outside dealer at a first-class price. Donnels & Steinmetz live here and expect to stay, and their guarantee upon a piece of furniture can be depended upon.

Sunday Baseball.

It is stated on the best of authority that the New York baseball club is quietly considering the question of Sunday ball playing by the New York team next season.

According to the Herald many of the stockholders in the club, in fact all of the minority, with scarcely an exception, are arrayed in a solid phalanx in favor of such a step being taken by the club, and they are using their oily persuasiveness and strongest arguments upon Andrew Freeman, president of the club and owner of the controlling interest, in an effort to make him see it the same as they do.

It is not known as yet what Mr. Freeman's decision will be.

Mrs. Oelrichs' Accident.

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs is suffering from an accident to one of her eyes, which may result in the loss of sight. Some days ago workmen were hanging tapestries at her home in New York, and Mrs. Oelrichs was superintending the work. Her face was turned upward when a tack dropped, the sharp point penetrating and lacerating the cornea, causing intense pain.

Still Piling Up.

The E. T. M. Co. began another attachment suit against the Gold Creek Mining Company this morning. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff furnished the defendant with goods, wares and merchandise to the amount of $1,180 47, no part of which has been paid.—Independent.

Pooling the Express Company.

In order to save $5,000 express charges on $4,000,000 of bonds which the executor of the Fair estate wished to transfer from New York to San Francisco, the papers were packed in three dress suit cases and sent across the continent as ordinary packages in the care of two men.—Ex.

District Court.

The District Court was occupied yesterday in the trial of the State vs. Wm. Hammersmith, charged with burglary. The evidence was not considered sufficient for conviction and the jury after a few moments consideration returned a verdict of not guilty and the defendant was discharged.

The Viavi Work.

In no way can we do more good than in restoring the sick to health. This Viavi will do, if intelligently used. Have you stomach trouble? Use our Tabloids. Have you piles? Use our Sano. Have you catarrh? Use our Catarrh Remedy. Are you weak and all run down? Use Viavi. Come and see me and I will fully explain the use of all our remedies. MRS. B. E. HUNTER. Fourth street.

WINDS AND LEAVES.

Wet winds that flap the sudden leaves,
Wet leaves that drop and fall,
Unhappy leafless trees the wind bereaves,
Four trees and small;

All of a color, solemn in your green;
All of a color, somber in your brown;
All of a color, dripping gray between,
When leaves are down!

Oh, for the bronze green eucalyptus spires,
Far flashing up against the changeless blue,
Shifting and glancing in the steady fires
Of sun and moonlight too.

Deep orange groves, pomegranate hedges bright
And varnished fringes of the pepper trees,
And, oh, that wind of sunshine, wind of light,
Wind of the soul!
—Charlotte Perkins Stetson in Land of Sunshine.

WARNING FOR SCHOOLMA'AM

A Fond Mother Viewed the Acquaintance With Some Suspicion.

The course of a teacher in some rural schools is not unmarked by pitfalls. One young lady thus engaged tells an amusing story of the anxiety her conduct unwittingly caused the mother of one of her pupils. The pupil in question was an overgrown and stupid but well behaved boy of 19, named Tobias Hodges. He was older by several years, and far bigger than any other pupil in the school, but he was not so well advanced in his studies as some of the younger ones. He seemed so anxious to learn that the teacher often got him to remain after school for the purpose of assisting him in his studies.

Their homeward way lay over the same road, and they would walk home together after the hard places in the lessons had been made easy for Tobias.

Often in the morning, when she left home to go to the schoolhouse, the teacher would find the boy waiting for her, and she tactfully gave him several lessons in politeness, such as lifting his hat to her and other ladies, and assisting her over bad places in the road. She was beginning to feel that she might really make something out of Tobias, when her efforts on his behalf received a sudden check by the receipt of the following note from his widowed mother:

MADAM—I just want to say that I have heard how you are carrying on with my son Tobias, and all I got to say is that he isn't a margin any, I am his garden. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

Removal Sale.

Mr. R. E. Queen having become the owner of the Chambers building occupied by me as a dry goods store, has concluded to make important changes in the building which necessitates my moving temporarily to some other place. Preparatory to moving I must reduce my stock of dry goods and will therefore sell at a great reduction my entire stock consisting of Dry Goods of all qualities in latest styles, Ladies and Childrens Jackets, Capes in cloth and plush, Blankets, Flannels, Ladies cloth, Lace Curtains, Bedspreads, Ladies and Childrens underwear and hundreds of articles of fancy goods. The reduction is sweeping and customers will be saving on all purchases. S. EMERSON.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children when teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

John Olesen, who left here about a month ago to try his fortune on the briny deep returned yesterday. He shipped on a Coaster and made one trip from San Francisco down the coast and back, but John says it rained nearly all of the time and there was too much water for a sage-brusher and pitching hay is good enough for him. He says he has spent many years on the North sea and Atlantic, but he struck a gale off the Santa Barbara Coast that blew his mastsche off and his love for the sea went with it.

The Donner Monument.

The proposition to erect a monument on the spot where the historic Donner party spent the terrible winter of 1846 amid such trials and suffering, which has been talked of so much and which has of late years passed into a state of apparent innocuous desuetude, has again been brought forward.

Escaped a Dreadful Death.
William H. Hill of Osawatimie, Kan., had an adventure in the Grand canyon of the Yellowstone which deserves to take high rank in the annals of narrow escapes. He had descended the canyon to Red rock, below Point Lookout. He was still 1,500 feet above the bottom of the great chasm. Below him an almost precipitous slope ran down hundreds of feet to the top of an absolutely perpendicular wall of great height.
Mr. Hill lost his footing and plunged downward along the steep slope. He knew what was below him. The speed with which he approached death was rapidly accelerating and a great avalanche was accompanying him. With a desperate effort he flung himself upon his back and dug his heels and elbows into the earth. It seemed to him that he slid for miles, but he was not going as fast as at the beginning. Stones that he had started rained on ahead of him.
He dug his heels and his elbows in harder, and at last he stopped with something that felt like solid rock under his feet.
For some minutes he lay perfectly still, not daring to move. Then slowly he raised his head.
He was on the brink of the precipice 600 feet high. The little ledge under his feet was actually projecting over the edge.
A rescue party almost an hour later found him sitting there. He was practically unharmed. —Chicago News.

Coffee and Its Uses.
When there are in a community epidemics of typhoid fever, cholera, erysipelas, scarlet fever and the various types of malarial fever, which are transmitted almost entirely through the medium of food and drink, coffee is a valuable agent and may be used as a drink instead of water.
It is a valuable agent in assisting in the digestion of food and aids the blood in taking up more nourishment than it would without it.
It quickens the circulation of the blood and respiration.
It is also stimulating and refreshing (due to the caffeine it contains).
In tiding over nervousness in emergencies it is a sovereign remedy.
As a stimulant and caloric generator in cold weather it is 100 per cent ahead of whisky or other liquors.
As a disinfectant it is one of no small usefulness in the sick chamber.
Sleepy Onions.
The London Medical Press asserts that some plants sleep through the rainy season, others during periods of drought, of heat or of cold. Farmers are rather skeptical about weeds ever going to sleep, and it is hard to realize that an onion bed is nightly wrapped in balmy slumber. Yet science in this matter is too well fortified to be doubted. —St.
Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Never marry an artist as long as you live," wailed the bride.
"H'm! Has Edgar been criticising your personal appearance already?"
queried the blond.
"Or praising that of somebody else?"
asked the brunette, glancing into the mirror.
"Of course he hasn't," said the bride.
"He is perfectly devoted to me. Why only the day before yesterday he came back after he had gone four blocks to kiss me goodby, and"—
"Still," said the brunette, "a week ago he wouldn't have forgotten to kiss you goodby when he went out the first time."
"But he hadn't forgotten, dear.
Where was I? Oh, when I married Edgar of course I expected that he would make me perfectly happy, so"—
"Yes, and you expected to make him perfectly happy, too," broke in the blond.
"I had already, dear; I had married him. I never expected him to treat me brutally within a month, just because!"
"It couldn't have been a millinery bill already—was it?" thoughtfully asked the brunette.
"Oh, no! Papa has just paid for the hats in my trousseau, and mamma says she wouldn't even dare to die just now —welcome as the quiet of the grave would be—because of the expense of a coffin."
"But about Edgar," hinted the blond. "What was the cause of it?"
"It was all about a pie," groaned the bride. "He was perfectly horrid about it. Why, he?"
"Criticised it, of course," said the brunette. "Pshaw! That's nothing. You ought to hear the things my father"—
"He—he praised it," said the bride deliberately, "and I shall never forgive him as long as I live. No, not even if I live to be as old as that horrid Miss Blankley he used to be engaged to."
"I hope you know what you are talking about, dear," said the blond. "I don't."
"I thought I had made it plain enough for a dressmaker to understand already. Well, you see, it was this way: Poor Edgar has to work awfully hard. You know he made the mistake of learning to draw, and now that he has gone to making posters he has to unlearn everything he ever knew. However, I try to help him all I can. Oh, I work awfully hard; you have no idea why. I made him a pie the very first week we were married, and he?"
"Did he say it was good?" asked the blond apprehensively.
"He didn't say much, dear. You see, poor Dick was dining with us. If Edgar had praised it too much, it would have seemed like gloating over him, you know. But he was actually too full of pride and joy to eat."
"And Dick?" said the blond.
"Oh, he ate his. He?"
"By the way, I hear that Dick has recently sworn never to marry," said the brunette.
"Indeed?" said the bride stiffly.
"Well, yesterday Edgar told me that he must work at the studio all day and bring home a piece of work that he couldn't get to suit him and work at that half the night. I asked him if there was nothing I could do for him, and he kissed me and said I might make him a pie just like the one I had made before."
"And he sent you a message saying he couldn't be home to dinner? I see,"
said the brunette.
"Nothing of the kind. He came and ate two whole pieces of it. I was too tired to taste it myself, but I didn't say a word, for he was as pale as a ghost, and"—
"Look here, Elaine," said the blond impressively, "I hope you appreciate that man's love. It!"
"Of course I do," snapped the bride.
"Well, right after dinner he went into his den to work, and I sat down to write Helen a letter, telling her how happily I was. Poor, confiding creature, I!"
"My goodness, wasn't he at work?
Had he slipped out to the club, or?"
"He was at work. About 11 he came out with the design of a poster that he said would be his masterpiece. Oh, it was wonderful, all green and yellow, and to save your life you couldn't tell the top from the bottom, so it is sure to make a great success."
"But I don't see how Edgar was brutal to you. He?"
"I said, 'Oh, Edgar, to think you can do such lovely things and I can't help you a bit.' He replied: 'My darling, it is all due to you. I hadn't an idea for it until after I had eaten that second piece of pie, and if I live until morning all the world shall know that you alone are my inspiration.'"—Eliza Arm-
